Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The A227 and local infrastructure cannot support the additional homes and therefore cars. The A227 as an A road is already not fit for purpose. It is frequently congested and some parts have no safe continuous pedestrian pathways, requiring crossing the already busy road to walk, especially where speed limits change from 30 to 40. In general I am pro development but this is simply not viable. It is not just common sense but also safety.

Kind regards
