

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to formally object to the proposed licensing variation at the George Inn, Gravesend, which involves the construction of an accessible toilet facility in the middle of the restaurant.

As the [REDACTED] for the George Inn and a concerned member of the community, I believe this change will have several negative impacts on the establishment.

Firstly, the George Inn is a listed building with significant historical value. The proposed construction will alter the character and ambience of the pub, particularly as it is planned to be installed in the nicest part of the restaurant. This area is cherished by patrons for its unique atmosphere, which contributes to the overall experience of visiting the George Inn.

Secondly, the installation of the toilet facility will significantly reduce the seating capacity available to guests. This reduction will not only affect the pub's ability to accommodate its patrons but also potentially impact its revenue and the overall customer experience.

Moreover, the placement of the toilet facility in the middle of the restaurant is impractical and disruptive. It will interfere with the flow of the space and detract from the aesthetic appeal of the pub.

Despite my internal objections to this proposal, it has been pushed forward due to the bureaucracy of the situation. I urge the licensing board to reconsider this proposal and explore other options that would better preserve the historical and aesthetic value of the George Inn while still providing necessary accessibility improvements.

Thank you for considering my representation.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
