Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I am writing to express my growing concern about the destruction of natural habitats to make way for new housing developments. While I understand the need for housing, I believe we must also consider the long-term consequences of sacrificing vital ecosystems in the process. These natural areas are home to countless species of plants and animals, many of which are already under threat. For example, many of the beautiful badgers that inhabit the green spaces of Meopham will lose their setts as well as their feeding areas. The loss of these green spaces will displace a very large amount of wildlife. Is this being considered? These poor animals already face enough danger from the heavy traffic on Wrotham Road - which additionally has very few traffic calming devices and so it is a stretch of road where vehicles often exceed the speed limit. I urge you to please give a thought to the many species that call this area their home too, and have done so for many years.

Kind regards
