Reasons for comment:

Comments:	I whole heartedly object to this proposed development. Increasing the number of houses in this area will have a dangerous impact on the roads in the local vicinity. As a retired police officer of 20 years, I police the gravesend and meopham areas on a regular basis. Many of the calls to the A227 related to fatal collisions as a result of road users travelling in excess of the speed limit and conditions on what essentially is a village road. The current road system, one lane in each direction is incapable of handling even current road use levels. If this proposal goes ahead, the roads in the area would need drastic redevelopment to a dual carriage way to handle the increased traffic usage. The stretches of roads between the A2, A20 and out towards Longfield are essentially "cut through" for non local traffic. I would also strongly suggest average speed cameras be placed on these roads to limit the speeds drivers go at during their "cut through" journey. Also, with increased housing, there will be a huge demand on the parade of shops, which already sees congestion during the day. So, no. I do not agree to this proposal
