Comments:	Hi, this development is like many being proposed around the area and is on an already overstretched infrastructure. It will result in many more vehicle movements adding further to the overstretched A227 and this will inevitably affect air pollution levels. It will inevitably also affect wildlife and the surrounding areas. It also appears that this will be detrimental to local flooding issues. There are inadequate public transport links and the railway is also to far away to help with commuting. I have lived in this area for a long time and traffic levels have grown enormously, what was once a quite area is now overrun with vehicles. Traffic surveys confirm that in my mind the levels are reach unsupportable highs.

Kind regards
