Dear Lisa

Along with the applicants we've looked at fencing around other dog training fields such as Foxy Fields which is at Station Road, Southfleet. Below are photos of the fencing.

The fencing at Church Street is considered to be adequate as it is timber posts and stock fencing used to retain cattle on farms plus extra layers of wire fencing, chicken wire and stock fence plus mesh screening over the original fencing. The applicants will put another layer of stock fencing over the top section of wire fencing and do check the fencing daily.

The field has been in operation for at least 6 months without any incidents.

Below are photos of the fencing to Foxy Fields.

Also another local field with stock fencing and wooden batten posts attached

Regards

Jonathan
