Reasons for comment:

Comments:	This corner of the road is already very congested by parked cars. More often than not there are cars parked on the junction causing a hazard to pedestrians and other cars. The corner also floods every time It rains. A new house will further exasabate the already existing problems. Currently, as you look out [REDACTED] living room, the road is balanced as it was designed to be. A random house will be out of keeping with the area.
