Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The A227 is already a very busy road without the added congestion that 100+cars will add. With a heavy downpour of rain the road gets flooded and is then dangerous without this added number of traffic. I cannot imagine what impact the infrastructure will have with extra vehicles and what about the doctors and hospitals, how will they cope? It is adding danger to the school children at the primary school. If this application goes ahead it goes without saying that there will be lorries going back and forth causing chaos and congestion and not for a short while but for months +. It will be a nightmare for people trying to get to work and children to school.

Kind regards
