Reasons for comment:

Comments: I don't feel this is appropriate for this area. We already have a high number of single people creating issues in the area with anti social behaviour. Grouping more in the same area will make things worse for the families already here. There is little to do in the area and I'm concerned that there will end up with big groups of people, potentiall asylem seekers hanging around causing trouble. We have enough issues in the area as it is.

Kind regards
