Reasons for comment:
Comments:	This area of Higham has a lot of wildlife and having open space is something that is getting rare, people that suffer from mental health and with health conditions need to be able to escape from the increasingly over populating world that we are now living in , when you walk and breath in the fresh air with no car noise It reduces stress with the new homes being built will obviously cause people stress with more noisy cars polluting the air around (stop cramming everyone into one space) the road into Higham is already busy enough Build new environmentally towns that look nice like villages with electric points and nice trees ponds ? This creates a happier environment.

Kind regards
