Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I object to the idea of a new development, especially one of this size. 725 new dwelling will undoubtedly mean at least 1500+ people coming to the area when you consider couples and larger families. I object on the grounds that the roads aren't good enough for the traffic we have now and with that much more that'll be worst. Plus the environmental factors all thoses cars will bring (again many houses have two or more cars). The environmental impact of the loss of green space and the damage caused by the build itself will be irreversible. Finally general infrastructure around the area is not up to standard for that level of influx.

Kind regards
