Reasons for comment:
Comments:	When 24a was being built the back garden level was much higher than that of tamarind and the council officer instructed the finished level to be reduced down to mitigate overlooking. However, the bottom area where the proposed annexe is to be built was left high requiring steps up. Would it be possible to reduce the finished level of the annexe to help with the overlooking aspect? Having said that I am not opposed to the building of the annexe.

Kind regards
