| Comments: | The villages within this area have always had a standalone value within the community. These plans to build houses which will inevitably join all these into one is preposterous. The roads are already falling apart with the amount of traffic. The schools are full and the drs surgery will never cope with this amount of new patients. The whole point of living in an area of beauty like this is the countryside and space that this area can provide. The impact on building on all the fields will be disastrous for animals, birds and insects which seem to be having all their habitats taken away, plus the effect all the extra cars and lorry's etc will have on the environment will be terrible. I understand that people want to live in this area, but there are thousands of houses being built at Ebbsfleet, why are more needed. |

Kind regards
