Reasons for comment:

Comments:	A high court injunction has been breached - the order prevents anyone from using the land for the siting of caravans or mobile homes. Illegal fencing has also been erected. The occupants are also accessing power illegally. They have also carried out major criminal damage to the green belt. The green belt must be protected to preserve and maintain the environmental integrity of the area. Illegal dwellings lead to habitat destruction, loss of biodiversity and disruption to the local ecosystem. Green belt land is specifically protected to prevent urban sprawl. Illegal development erodes this protection, leading to uncontrolled expansion of the green urban area which will strain infrastructure and public services. This illegal activity affects the character and quality of life in the surrounding community, including traffic congestion. The consistent failure of Gravesham Borough Council (GBC) to enforce the injunction is unlawful therefore it must be actioned immediately.
