Commenter Type: Neighbour

Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Reasons for comment:

Comments: I object to the massive building that has been erected in the garden of the property without any planning permission and up against the neighbouring properties boundaries [REDACTED] My concern is what such a large building is going to be used for, is it for commercial use or living accommodation and are we going to be subjected to noise nuisance . This area is a quiet country lane and the surrounding bungalows that back on to the property house mainly retired residents. We are concerned that our quiet way of life will be upset by the use of such a large building in a residential country setting as it is out of character with other buildings in the area.

Kind regards
