Reasons for comment:
Comments:	How an already over crowded village will be able to cope with an additional 120 houses and the amount of traffic it will generate is baffling. The local amenities at the parade already can't deal with the amount of people who visit causing numerous near misses trying to exit the already insufficient parking. And then more people needing to register at a doctors surgery where you already can't get an appointment. The green belt will disappear and a village will turn into a town. Whoever thinks this planning is a good idea obviously doesn't live in the area.

Kind regards
