Reasons for comment:

Comments:	From my understanding this piece of land is going to be compulsory purchased by Highways Agency. If this is the case, it would make it appear that this application is just to increase the value of the land and the amount the tax payer would have to pay for it. It is also an area of outstanding beauty, which would be negatively affected by this application and the person making the application is not a resident of the lane. If this is all correct then this is morally corrupt hence my very strong objection.
