Reasons for comment:

Comments: Our horse is close by to this land, and there is a great worry for their safety. The Applicant has already shown very little regard for the law, by putting caravans onto the land, ignoring the injunction, ordered in 2009, preventing any residential use. They have caused significant damage to the surrounding area, whilst illegally putting the caravans onto the land, which is completely unacceptable. If they can show such appalling disregard for the people living/occupying surrounding land, ignoring the law and doing as they wish, then there is no doubt such behaviour will continue should they be allowed to stay! Putting the local area at risk of further illegal activities, and anti-social behaviour, which could greatly affect equines occupying nearby fields. Should they be granted permission to reside here, it will open a pathway for others to illegally occupy land for the same purpose, causing problems all over.

Kind regards
